"Beyond Compliance: Truly Measuring Effectiveness in Safety Management Systems"

All sectors of the oil & gas industry use some form of safety management system(s) to administer, control, and communicate their safety policies, processes and procedures. Assessments of these systems, however, often devolve into compliance checks that can mask the true level of effectiveness (or ineffectiveness) of these systems, and obscure the associated opportunities for improvement. This presentation will be an interactive exercise discussing ways to measure the true effectiveness of safety management systems, and how to leverage existing assessment processes in this effort.

Ajay Shah, P.E., Director, Audubon Risk Management Solutions is our speaker at this Roundtable.
