"What Does The Contract Say About That?"

Featuring

Stephen Sanford, B.Comm, JD, MBA
Managing General Counsel of the Energy and Chemicals Business Unit and the Power Business Unit, Fluor

This presentation will cover a brief overview of how the contract should be viewed as the most important risk management tool; a description of Fluor’s Business Risk Management Framework; the importance of the scope of work and how the compensation terms affect the risks accepted; how we use the contract to address force majeure, performance related issues, indemnity and insurance, change orders and warranty; the importance of the choice of law and choice of jurisdiction for disputes; and currency related issues and export controls concerns.
